FROM THE COMMITTEE

President's Message

Welcome everyone, the year is rapidly coming to a close. No official club run was set aside for the month of September but with no less than nine Motorfest events there was plenty of good runs to go on and I know a lot of you went on quite a few of them. Special thanks to Graham McRae for taking up the challenge and running one on behalf of our club.

The climax to these events was the Bay to Birdwood for classic cars, a full field of over 1700 cars attended on a fantastic spring day. More and more people a getting into the spirit of the event dressing in period clothing and with an age of vehicles from the mid fifties to the mid seventies how the fashion changed. With the biggest and strongest display of fashions in the field Debbie and John Goddard did us proud by winning the best couple in the sixties era.

Once again Chris Howes guided us to Jamestown for their tri-annual air show. A good weekend away with around 25 people descending on the Caltowie Pub for tea. Chris assembled the troops with the older vehicles at 7.30am and a good display was put together at the air strip.

On Saturday the 24th October five members along with five other makes of historic vehicles attended a Spring Fete at Wakefield House at Morphett Vale. This complex is a meeting place for senior people in our community to meet and share time together and our cars were of special interest with the men, many of them being past employees of Chrysler/Mitsubishi.

The Christmas Picnic at Beefacres Reserve is on December 6th. Please advise Sharon ASAP if you are attending and the names, age, gender of children attending for Father Christmas presents.

The Committee has already set out some exciting runs through till March next year with the March run being partly subsidized by the club. Read more in upcoming runs.

On a committee note a decision was made that that we spend the monies received from the Chrysler Car Club of SA for helping out at this last year's All Chrysler Day, on three new feather flags, 2 Plymouth and 1 Desoto.

On a sad note since our last magazine Betty Webb wife of long time member John Webb, Roger Beaumont, Bill Lorimer's partner and Wayne Bartlett have passed away. Our thoughts are with their families.

Hoping to see you at some of our events.

CLUB NOTES

Federation Meeting Report

Meeting October 17th

Guest Speaker:

Martyn Luck from FHMC's Broker spoke on club insurance policies and risk assessment issues, (more info available from the Federation).

General:

Changes to legislation covering export of historic vehicles deferred, current legislation still applies. DPTI has not made any recommendation to the Minister for conditional registration of modified vehicles.

Historic Registration

Federation will replace unused club stocks of old type log books for the new version.

There has been some scrutiny of description of online ads for older cars stated to be on historic plates by the Federation and DPTI (indicating that specifications might render them ineligible for historic registration). Registrars, Committee members and Assessors are urged to be vigilant for any club vehicles that may have been modified.

Personalised plate agreements do not always expire at a registration renewal date. DPTI has been asking owners to pay the plate renewal fee at the same time as registration fee for the period in which the plate requires renewal. DPTI is aiming to synchronise dates but in the meantime be prepared if this affects you.

Owners are reminded that when historically registering a vehicle from interstate you can put it straight onto the scheme without stamp duty.

There have been instances of DPTI staff asking for full registration, then cancelling so as to transfer to Historic Reg.

This is not correct, if you need assistance contact your club registrar.

Federation Tour 2016:

Proposed destination is Ceduna.

Bay to Birdwood: Classic run expected to return a small profit. There were 1767 entrants but surveys indicate there were up to 3000 vehicles on the route which is one reason for longer run time for some entrants. The growth in numbers is mostly in the 70's vehicles, and thirty two percent of entrants were not members of clubs. More detailed report with statistics will be forwarded to clubs later in year.

CLUB NOTES

Historic Vehicle Registration

For this issue I want to talk about what modifications are allowed for cars on conditional (historic) registration. As stated in the foreword of the Code of Practice, "the intent of the scheme is to support motoring enthusiasts with genuine historic vehicles representative of South Australian motoring heritage".

Leading on from this the Code of Practice in Part Two gives the eligibility and approved variations, that is, allowed modifications. There are specific variations that have been approved via the Federation and the best known to our club is the allowance of tubular exhausts to replace the cast iron slant six exhaust manifold. Non performance enhancing accessories or safety equipment that does not detract from the historic integrity may be added without recording as a variation, for example replacing the fixed seat belts with retractor types would fall under this.

Basically the modifications are to allow vehicles to continue in use when parts etc are either not available or for improved safety such as replacing the original lighting with halogen or LED globes providing the lens and casing remains original equipment manufacturer (and this is something I will be doing to replace the 2 candlepower headlights on my 1924 Nash!).

As an example beaded edge tyres may be replaced with straight side tyres but there are limits to the dimension changes. Accessories that were either offered by the Original Equipment Manufacturer or were commercially available from an aftermarket supplier at the time of delivery again may be fitted provided that they are not performance enhancing. It is the onus of the owner to provide evidence of the commercial availability of an accessory in Australia at the time of delivery of the vehicle.

This is only a very short coverage of the issue and all owners of conditionally registered cars need to look at Part Two of the Code of Practice to ensure that their car/s comply. If they do not then the modification must be either removed or alternatively go on to full rego. Remember also that you sign a Statutory Declaration when renewing your club membership.

The SA scheme is a very good one and the danger is that any non conformance jeopardises it for all, if you have any doubts when interpreting the Code please do not hesitate to contact me for help, if we cannot sort it out we can go to the Federation and they can assist.

The code of practice is available on line at:-

<https://www.sa.gov.au/topics/transport-travel-and-motoring/motoring/vehicles-and-registration/vehicle-types-and-specifications/historic-left-hand-drive-and-street-rod-vehicles>

You can either read it online or download a pdf copy whichever suits.

2016 Club Calendar

Our club's 2016 calendar is now available. This year's photo shoot at Houghton Oval with a natural tree covered area as a background I feel, highlights the vehicles and gives a more appealing photo. These make great gifts and also a keepsake of your collectable car.

We have only one version this year at a cost of $15 or $17.50 if postage is required.

An order sheet was passed around at the October meeting. The calendar will be available at the November meeting. Further orders will be available if needed. If you would like one please let me know.

PAST EVENTS

Murray Bridge Twin Bridges Rally

4th to 6th September 2015

This Rally is held every other year and we have attended 4 in total and this year as always the Murray Bridge Committee showed us a really good time.

We started Friday afternoon with a meet and greet and rally registration with afternoon tea. That evening we met up again for a welcome dinner supplied by the club ladies and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Saturday morning began with the usual vehicle display at the Sturt Reserve adjacent to the Murray River. This was also the chance for participants to vote for the most desired vehicle in the relevant class.

On departing Murray Bridge we headed off for a drive to Karoonda for morning tea supplied by the local netball club. (We certainly didn't need lunch after their terrific spread).

We then travelled about 25kms towards Lameroo to Morgan's Farm. There we were introduced to the owner and shown a display of air memorabilia. The C47 that was a novelty dining area at McDonalds Restaurant at West Lakes is now housed at the farm and is being restored to original WWII times. At this stage it has had the wings removed but still looks very impressive. We were shown a film on the history of "Irene" the C47 when it was used as a supply plane flying between Australia and New Guinea during the war. We were privileged to witness one of the C47's motors running.

We were also shown through their private museum where we saw a terrific display of model aircraft which included a jet and helicopter. They are also involved in tractor pulls which was something to be seen. Wow!!

A photo with David May's 1952 Fargo ute, Steve Williams' 48-215 Holden and our 36 Chrysler in front of her looked great with the plane in the background.

That night we met at the Murray Bridge RSL for dinner, the theme for the evening was "Those Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines" which attracted some very original costumes and a lot of fun. Trevor won best dressed male.

Sunday saw us back at the club rooms where after the usual morning tea, the men went to a crash repair shop and a men's shed whilst the ladies went to Serenity Nursery. I can't comment on those two visits but if you in Murray Bridge and looking to pass some time and have an interest in gardening a visit to Serenity Nursery is a must. It is located on the Murray Bridge to Mannum road. It's not just plants even though those were great too. Another Wow!!!

We then returned to the club rooms for lunch and trophy presentations. Three of our CRC cars won trophies. As time was getting on we decided it was time to head home in time for Father's Day commitments. Another great rally with great company. We are never disappointed with the Twin Bridges Rally and encourage members to put it in the diary to attend.

PAST EVENTS

Motorfest Classic 2015

Monday 21st September 2015

Muscle Cars and Memorabilia, hosted by the Sporting Car Club of SA. This run was fairly straight forward. After meeting at the CCC club rooms we headed for the South Eastern Freeway via Cross Road to Woodside where we visited a private collection of muscle cars and motoring memorabilia. The car collection included Mustangs, a twin cam Ford Escort, Holden Monaro and other Classics from the same era. This collection was adjacent to Melbas chocolate factory so several people took the opportunity to sample and purchase some of their product. A delicious morning tea was well catered for from some Woodside volunteers. An invitation to visit the Sporting Car Club's club rooms for an enjoyable lunch and a guided tour of their impressive library and rooms made a great day out. Our Plymouth decided to give some starting problems from a suspect battery. At this stage still needs some attention.

Wednesday September 23rd

Round the Sheds, hosted by Gawler Veteran, Vintage and Classic Vehicle Club. The Plymouth was reluctant to start today so I travelled with a friend in a 1963 Chev Impala convertible.

The day began with the run leaving from the CCC club rooms to Womma Road via the Northern Expressway to visit Colin Jones' collection of heavy duty Military vehicles. These premises are quite impressive with a large function area for weddings and concerts and the like. After a great morning tea we were directed to Willaston to visit a collection of Gawler Club member, Corrie Wakes, plus other member's, beautifully restored cars, which included Mini Coopers, a Morris Minor ute and other Leyland vehicles. A Chev Corvair and a couple of Jaguars added to his terrific collection.

Leaving Willaston we called into the Whispering Wall near Lobethal for a barbecue lunch. It was now I decided these day events should be renamed the Motor'feast'. Eating seems to be the priority. From there we drove on to Tanunda to visit an amazing collection of Carl Linder's, which included a most impressive Jaguar display with a workshop to dream of. Time to come back to reality, we returned home after a most interesting and enjoyable day.

Friday September 25th

A Day at the Flicks, hosted by The Early Ford V8 Club of SA Inc.

On arriving at the CCC club rooms at 8.00am I thought we were early, but on further investigation found that most entrants had already signed in and headed off on the two hour drive to the country town of Blyth. The Plymouth was behaving well so we took to the road and arrived in time to be treated for a morning tea put on by the local country ladies. I have made mention of the food earlier and it keeps coming in amounts you wouldn't believe. The local cinema was the venue for today's entertainment. The cinema was an old Masonic Lodge very well converted into retro era. The slide show of some very early photos was great, as were the couple of jokes. They held a quiz featuring a number of old photographs, but our 6 out of mostly restored army vehicles including "Miss Stuart" which on start up provided its own smoke screen. The recently restored Sarecen troop carrier with its Rolls Royce straight eight engine was quite fast and not too uncomfortable on a short trip. With no seat belts or grab handles in the rear seating area for 8 passengers you would have to be prepared for a rough ride. Another great day at a complex that should be preserved for future interest.

Motorfest Classic 2015 (ctd)

All the events that we attended during the Motorfest were well organised and very interesting.

15 was a failure.

The movie shown was "Last Cab to Darwin", which we really enjoyed. Then it was over the road to the Blyth Hotel for more food. We headed off after that for the 2 hour drive home. Another great day!

Monday 28th September

Cruising the Murray River, hosted by the Ford Owners Car Club of SA.

Instead of the meet at CCC club rooms we decided to travel direct to the first visit at Melba's Chocolate Factory. After signing in and collecting our run sheet we headed out on the Old Princes Highway to Murray Bridge enjoying the scenery which was at it's best this time of the year. We arrived just before 12 by sitting on the speed limit, driving an older car the times allowed were a bit optimistic. Everyone had arrived by 12.10pm with the cruise under way by 12.15. On a calm river we were served a delicious choice of roast chicken or beef and desert. A short cruise to Willowbank and on the return the breeze picked up and became quite cool. We arrived back at Murray Bridge at 3.00pm and headed home after a pleasant 3 hours on the river with great company and food.

Tuesday 29th September

Meet Miss Stuart and Friends, hosted by the Military Vehicle Preservation Society of SA Inc.

After the usual meeting and signing on and with run sheets we headed off to the museum site arriving at 10.00am in time for yet another delicious morning tea. You have to be there early to beat Geof Chase, I was next in line. We were split into two groups and given very informative and interesting guided tours of the complex which comprises of many buildings that were utilised for various purposes during the second World War. We were shown a very impressive collection of Military radio equipment, a vast display of

The volunteers, organisers and caterers deserve a big thankyou.

CLUB NOTES

How Much Is My Car Worth?

We are seeing a great deal of buying and selling of our old vehicles recently. Not only are cars passing from generation to generation, but also a surprising number of cars emerging from barns all over the world, cars we had no idea existed and certainly not in such quantity. Some people estimate that the population of known antique (pre WW11) cars has increased 50% over the last decade, thanks in great part to the availability of Internet sales options.

The question constantly before us as hobbyists is, "how much is this car worth?" asked in earnest by a novice who just pulled an old treasure out of grandpa's garage. This question is also asked by long time owners who have watched the prices on old cars fluctuate up and down over the last four decades. The answer is not simple, compounded by the tendency of the questioner to over appraise the car's condition and to presume that any old car is worth a mint. Right now, figure that, except for certain rarities, the market is "flooded." Too many cars on the market all at once; too few buyers.

The information presented here comes from several sources sent to the Dodge Brothers Club News over the years. Some of this is directed at buyers, based on presentation made to the Northern Ohio Model A Club by Don Crum, who at the time (1991) was and may still be a certified Model A appraiser for several automobile insurance carriers and also a judge. (Yes we know, it is Ford oriented, but the basic information is perfectly valid for DB and GB vehicles.) Used with the permission of Crum's article, "Pricing the Model A Ford, Determining the Value and Assigning a Grade," which appeared in Model A Trader magazine. Further information was compiled from price guides.

TOOLS OF THE TRADE

Pricing a pre-war vehicle begins with a thorough inspection of the car. The following tools are considered indispensable:

Camera with flash— Use the camera to document the car, both inside and out. The photos can be checked later to see if the car you inspected is the same car you are buying. You can also use the photos to compare against the next car you inspect.

Pencil and paper— Note the colours, accessories, options, and the final grade given to the car. Also list the engine and serial number because it will be required for insurance purposes.

Good light and mech. creeper-

Use these tools for checking shocks, linkages, exhaust system, and the complete underside of the car.

Engine crank (if applicable)-Use the crank to see if the engine is free to turn. If it isn't the car may not be worth buying; engine work can be expensive.

AREAS TO INSPECT

There are four major inspection areas which determine the overall condition of a vehicle.

Exterior— Stand a little distance away and walk around the car. Check for dents and body lean. Try to assess the overall body condition including the sheet metal, roof, and paint.

Interior— Check the upholstery, wood graining, window glass, shades and hardware. Spend plenty of time in this area; new upholstery alone can represent at least a $3,000 investment.

Drive Train— The drive train includes everything underneath the car including drive shaft, transmission, differential, shocks, and linkages. Here's where you need to use your creeper and light.

As part of this inspection, don't forget to check the wheels, tyres, and hubcaps. Also take a good look at the bumpers, brackets, and exhaust system.

Engine Area— Check the cooling system, electrical wiring, generator, starter, steering column, and carburettor. Try to determine the general condition of the engine. Has it been rebuilt? Check the engine number. Is it correct for the model and year? Does the engine turn over freely?

ASSIGNING A GRADE

After a complete inspection, the vehicle can be graded from 1 to 6. The numerical grade assigned to the car can be converted into an approximate dollar value by checking a price guide or by looking for comparable sales of cars of cars on the Internet or elsewhere. Be aware that the "asking price" on Ebay or various car sales sites are not usually the selling price. Finally remember that we are prone to over grade our cars. Most vehicles fall into grade 3 or lower. Older restorations cherished as they may be, could easily qualify under grade 4. You must be able to show proof by a trophy, documents of an award, before asking a premium for a grade 1 or 2 vehicle.

VEHICLE GRADES CONDITION

1 Excellent-Restored to current maximum professional standards of quality in all areas. Usually trailered to shows and stored in a climate controlled area. These vehicles can be considered rare.

2 Fine— Well restored, or a combination of superior restoration and excellent original. Also a well maintained original showing minimal wear. Except for the very closest inspection a 2 vehicle will take the top award on many judged shows.

CLUB NOTES

How Much Is My Car Worth? (ctd)

3 Very Good– Completely operable original or “older restoration” showing wear. Combinations of well done restoration and good operable components, or a partially restored car with all parts necessary to complete it and/or valuable NOS parts. This is a “20 footer”. That is, from 20 feet away it may look perfect, but as you approach it, you begin to notice that the paint work may be getting a little thin from frequent washing and polishing. A look inside may reveal some upholstery wear on the driver’s seat, foot pedals and carpet wear. All systems and equipment on the car are in good condition and operation.

4 Good– A driveable vehicle needing no, or only minor work to be functional. A deteriorated restoration or a very amateur restoration. All components may need restoration to be “excellent”, but the car is usable as is. This is a car at 20 feet is in no doubt it needs some work.

5 Restorable– Needs complete restoration of body, chassis and interior. May not be running, but isn’t weathered, wrecked and/or stripped to the point of being useful only for parts. This car needs everything. It may not be operable, but is essentially complete. A challenge to the restorer.

6 Parts Car– May or may not be running, but is weathered, wrecked and/or stripped to the point of being useful primarily for parts only. This is an incomplete or greatly deteriorated, perhaps rusty, vehicle that has parts value or as a donor vehicle for another project.

GUIDELINES FOR SETTING A PRICE

1. Never advertise a “firm” price. Every buyer wants to win. There fore allow for some bargaining.
2. Never advertise “best offer” without some indication of price range.
3. Figure that you will never recoup your investment if you paid a third party for a restoration.
4. If you worked on the car yourself, figure your labour at a low hourly rate. Be happy to recover that
5. Time and money spent on your car should be considered as hobby money. Few people make money on hobbies.
6. Start by evaluating your vehicle as Grade 3 then realistically, honestly try to justify a higher grade
7. Be prepared after step 6 , to consider lowering your evaluation to Grade 4.
8. Beware of shady offers. Evaluate your buyer when you feel you are being persuaded to drastically drop your price. Buyers have been known to bring family along to make it look like a family car.
9. Be willing to sell over seas. The exchange rate is favourable for sales to other countries and they are unlikely to street rod your car.
10. Be prepared to sell “parts cars” cheap nowadays because decent #3 cars can be had for less than restoration costs.
11. The market is slightly better for unmolested, unrestored, all original cars in drivable condition, especially among the upcoming generations.
12. The days of “getting rich” by selling antique cars, if they ever existed for the average person, are long gone. These getting rich stories of sales of pre-war, non classic antiques were rare then, non existent now.

Member Profile

My name is Jim Dawson. For those that missed my “live introduction” show at our September meeting I am a local product with Gina, my wife somewhat more exotic. Growing up I had the same dreams as many local lads I’m sure and eventually managed to make most a reality. Self employed nearly all my working life in design and construction we used predominately Chrysler Dodge and Valiant utes and even a CL panel van until they became a liability after Chrysler closed-up shop.

After becoming ill in 2001 I decided to sell my vehicles. We returned to Chrysler in 2005 when the PT Cruiser was found to be ideal for access purposes and for use as a van to carry my “gopher” in the back. After some health improvements the dream of purchasing a “classic” Adelaide built Chrysler was hatched and the S Series was purchased in 2014.

How did you find out about the Chrysler Restorers Club?

On one occasion while surfing the internet I found the club site and became interested in joining the club.

Did you know anyone in the club?

No, I came in as a complete stranger.

What year did you join the club?

2014

What came first, the car or the club?

Almost a dead heat but the car by about two weeks.

Where and how did you find your car?

Found on the internet in Queensland.

Did it need a restoration or was it already done?

Pretty much an original unrestored example.

Did any members have any input with the restoration, if so who?

Always happy to receive advice. Lindsay Gibb and Geoff Chase have been great.

Do you have a story that may have won you a disaster award? (any stuff up will do)

Not yet, but give me time!

Do you enjoy going on club runs and attending meetings?

Meetings are always enjoyable and a bit of fun having a chat around supper. We both have enjoyed the runs a great deal to date.

What is your ambition within the club?

To serve the club well. At this stage I have been nominated to hold a committee position as librarian and volunteered to the position as Rally Director fo the 2019 Chrysler National Rally in South Australia.

Do you have a story that needs to be told about a club member? (don't let the truth hold you back)

Not yet, but give me time! I’m sure something will come up.

Do you think you will ever find that elusive part at a swap meet so you will never have to go to another one?

Not a chance

What have been some of the highlights of your time in the club?

Filling out this member profile!! No, attending meetings and meeting members on the club runs.

Do you enjoy and would you have any suggestions for club runs?

I have enjoyed them all to date.

For the ladies:

What were your thoughts when your man said I want an old car to play with and put it where you thought the paving, pergola and bbq should be?

If it keeps him out from under my feet then all’s well.

Has his effort been worth it?
We are both enjoying the runs together.

Do you think he will ever find that lost part at a swap meet or on Ebay?

Never, but he has good fun looking.

Another Chrysler Mystery

The recent trek to Cameron Corner by a small group of South Australian CRC members returned quite a few interesting tales. Getting caught in the severe wet weather and bringing home a lot of northern mud was a well known part of the event.

Most vehicles were able to return with out any major mechanical problems. Rick Frith and Sheena Backhouse's 1925 Chrysler 6 buckboard (The Battler) probably came out of it with the most surprising engine result. He was able to get home with engine still going but noticed an increase in fuel economy. After pulling down the engine the valve damage is shown in the photos below.

Vale: Wayne Bartlett

With deep regret we announce that member Wayne Bartlett passed away on Sunday 18th October after a short battle with cancer and brain tumours.

Wayne joined the club in the early eighties and became a very active member participating in all runs and writing various magazine articles he soon became an Historic Vehicle Assessor followed by Committee person, Runs Coordinator and Vice President. Wayne was always thinking of how best to promote our club and was instrumental in our attendance as a club at the All Chrysler Day here in SA.

His passion was VC Valiants and the chase of getting all the bits and pieces needed to have them in top condition owning sedans, wagons and a utility over various years. Other vehicles included S Series Valiant, 38 Chrysler Royal, 2 VJ Valiants and a Centura. Many of these vehicles are still in the club being owned now by other members.

Wayne and Marianne moved to Mildura with his job in June 2010 and to Wodonga about 6 months ago hence we have not seen him at recent events. Wayne was a nephew of Judy McNair.

Our thoughts are with his wife Marianne and family.

CUBA –Automotive Reflections.

Readers will no doubt be aware that the US again raised its flag over its embassy in Havana after 54 years. Some of you may have seen the ceremony highlights on TV. You might also have noticed three rather lovely 1950s vehicles parked across the road from the proceedings, symbols of the embargo imposed by the Americans all those years ago.

My recent trip to Cuba satisfied my curiosity about this small, beautiful country: in particular, its history, architecture, music and, of course, the old cars for which it is now famous.

The roads of Cuba are not that much different from how they in pretty good condition; in fact, most seem to fit this category. However, close inspection often finds the interiors fairly rough and ready. It is a credit to their ingenuity that Cubans have kept these vehicles on the road. Diesel engines have been fitted to many, but original engines seem to be prized. Cuban mechanics are apparently paid well to keep the cars running through clever modification and fabrication of parts. Of course you still see hoods up and drivers tinkering with their charges; we are all familiar with that! Cubans use their cars well. You rarely see just one person in a car; cars are often crowded, particularly those used as taxis. In the cities and towns, a lot are used as such.

Havana, like most Cuban cities, is stunningly beautiful. But there is much decay in the architecture, with glorious facades often propped up with scaffolding and screening empty space behind. However, there is a lot of restoration taking place too. The sight of big, shining, colourful big-finned American convertibles gliding around the city streets is incongruous to the faded glory of the amazing streetscapes.

From the centre of Havana one can hire a convertible for about $30-40 for an hour's tour of the city; the expense depends on how desirable the car may be. Spectacular mid-to-late 1950s models are the most popular and it's a great way to see the sights. I shared a 1953 Ford and a 1952 Chevrolet with others in my tour group but I also used a 1956 Chevrolet sedan to get to dinner one night. I could have used a nice, but slightly battered, 1948 Chrysler, but it wasn't available at the time. A 1953 model Chevrolet took me to the airport on the way home. And our tour group used early-60s Willys Jeeps to get to the beach.

My personal favourite, however, was a 1948 Desoto convertible.

might have appeared pre-revolution, 1959. There are plenty of newer cars on the road, although I didn't see many expensive ones. But it is certainly the old American vehicles which attract all the attention. I'd guess that about 20-30% of the auto population would be at least 54 years old. These vehicles vary from those beautifully restored to (almost) original condition through to those which are greatly altered, adapted or modified a lot, crudely painted and just chugging along. There are those which have been modestly modified and kept streets. I found long tour bus trips far from boring as I gazed out the windows watching the highways and wondering what vehicular delight would appear next. Even small towns and villages presented visions of old cars parked on streets and in driveways. I spoke to a few drivers of old vehicles at roadhouses and was grateful for having photos of my car to show them, as it “broke the ice” quickly.

So, what will happen to all this now that the Old Glory has again been raised there, the embargo proposed to be lifted and cheaper goods, cars included, about to

The driver spoke good English and told me that driving this vehicle was the quickest and easiest way to earn money for his family. He didn't own the car; that was the privilege of a rather seedy-looking old gent who clearly took most of the cash.

The majority of old cars seemed to be Chevrolets from the 1950s. The '57 model is very popular and commands very good prices just as it does elsewhere. There were also many Buicks, with the rest of the GM family clearly dominating the scene. Then there were the Fords and then Chrysler products, primarily Plymouths and Dodges, as one would expect. There were still a sizable number of cars from the 1940s, but I didn't see much in the way of pre-war vehicles. Having stated that, a fairly good 1935 Ford convertible was my second choice after the Desoto. There seemed to be little left from the '20s, although I did see a lovely 1928 Pontiac in Trinidad and a very nice 1929 Model A roadster was doing taxi service there. I noticed a number of British makes too; Ford Consuls and Zephyrs along with Austin and Morris vehicles.

I didn't see much in the way of public transport, except in the big cities, and tourists are not supposed to use those buses. Cubans without cars have a choice of pedal-cabs and even small horse-drawn carriages, particularly in regional areas. Then there are antique trucks with the tray replaced by a big metal box adapted to carry passengers. Our group used one of these once and I can vouch for their lack of comfort.

My first excursion onto the streets of Havana had my “cardar” in overdrive and my camera ran hot for an hour or so until it didn't know what to take next. The presence of so many vintage vehicles of such variety added a wonderful ambience to the city enter?

Firstly, one must realise that the Cubans are aware of their assets. The embargo led to much inconvenience and hardship, but Cuban cities were largely spared the exploitation and development which might have razed much of them in the 1960s and 70s and 80s, as it did everywhere else. UNESCO is now involved with helping to restore much of them. The Cubans also seem quite proud of their old car fleet. It represents the resilience and ingenuity Cubans have demonstrated through the years and has become a sort of social and industrial “heritage”.

not that interested in old cars. I found the history, music, food and architecture wonderful. The people are very friendly and hospitable too. So GO! GO NOW! Before it all changes too much!

Greg Janzow.

And Cuban cars have been expensive to buy and maintain, with not much money for the population to spend. My tour guide had just sold his Russian Lada and bought a 1957 Chevrolet sedan for $20,000US, and then had to put a new diesel engine into it. It's in good order but it still needs a lot of work to restore it to pristine condition. After that investment, he won't part with it for just a few dollars. Besides which, it has the potential to earn money.

One of my hosts had recently bought a 1992 Peugeot for $25,000US!! It was on blocks waiting for a part and had been there for a while. Meanwhile someone had offered him $30,000US for it!!!

Of course, the tourists just love the cars and these vehicles are used for making money. Their images appear on all the tourist literature and on souvenirs everywhere. You can buy souvenir cars made of painted papier-mache, wood and even ceramic!

Somehow I don't think the Cubans will be giving up their vintage cars any time soon. Or at least I hope not. My recommendation to them would be to keep as many as possible and exploit them for all they're worth! One could also point out the irony of American tourists having to pay good money to ride in their own cars!

In conclusion, I'd also recommend Cuba as your next travel destination. It's a wonderful and fascinating place, even if you're
